

Use and Disclosure of Sensitive Protected Health Information

Both Federal and State law requires special privacy protections for certain highly confidential information about you that is considered and defined as Sensitive Protected Health Information, as follows:

- Documentation or analysis of any communication between you and your psychiatrist, psychologist, social worker, psychiatric nurse, mental health specialist, sexual assault counselor, domestic violence counselor, or other allied mental health or human service professional (mental health communications)
- Venereal Disease
- Genetic testing results and/or records
- Treatment for Substance Abuse/Alcohol Dependence
- AIDS, ARC or HIV (including the fact that an HIV test was ordered, performed or reported, regardless of whether the results of such tests were positive or negative)

In order for us to disclose your Sensitive Protected Health Information for a purpose other than those permitted or required by law or regulation, we must obtain your written authorization. We may use or disclose Sensitive Protected Health Information for treatment, payment and healthcare operations with the exception of AIDS, ARC or HIV testing (regardless of the result) which requires your written authorization to be used for payment or discharge planning.

Right to Revoke Your Authorization

You may revoke your authorization, your marketing authorization, or any other written authorization obtained in connection with your Sensitive Protected Health Information, except to the extent that we have taken action in reliance upon it, by delivering a written revocation statement to the Health Information Management Department.

Inmates

If you are an inmate of a correctional facility or are under the custody of a law enforcement official, we may release medical information about you to the correctional facility or law enforcement official in order to:

- Provide for your health care following your discharge
- To protect your health and safety or the health and safety of others

- For the safety and security of the correctional facility or law enforcement official

How else can we use or share your health information?

We are permitted or required to share your information in other ways – usually in ways that contribute to the public good, such as public health and research. We must meet many conditions within the law, prior to sharing your information for these purposes. For more information please refer to: www.hhs.gov/ocr/privacy/hipaa/understanding/consumers/index.html.

Help with public health and safety issues

We can share health information about you for certain situations such as:

- Preventing disease
- Tracking and informing individuals about product recalls
- Reporting adverse reactions to medications
- Reporting suspected abuse, neglect, or domestic violence
- Preventing or reducing a serious threat to anyone's health or safety

Conduct research

We can use or share your information for purposes of health research.

Comply with the law

We will share information about you if state or federal law requires it, including the Department of Health and Human Services, to demonstrate compliance with Federal Privacy Law.

Respond to organ and tissue donation requests

We can share health information about you with organ procurement organizations.

Work with a medical examiner or funeral director

We can share health information with a coroner, medical examiner, or funeral director when an individual dies.

Address workers' compensation, law enforcement, and other government requests

We can use or share health information about you:

- For workers' compensation claims
- For law enforcement purposes or with a law enforcement official

- With health oversight agencies for activities authorized by law
- For special government functions such as military, national security, and presidential protective services

Respond to lawsuits and legal actions

We can share health information about you in response to a court or administrative order, or in response to a subpoena.

Our Responsibilities

- We are required by law to maintain the privacy and security of your protected health information
- We will notify you promptly if a breach occurs that may have compromised the privacy or security of your information
- We must follow the duties and privacy practices described in this notice and provide you with a copy of it.
- We will not use or share your information other than as described herein unless you inform us in writing that we can do so. Please inform us in writing if you change your previous directive.

Your Information. Your Rights. Our Responsibilities.

This notice describes how medical information about you may be used and disclosed and how you can get access to this information. Please review it carefully.

Our Commitment to Privacy

We understand that you are concerned about the privacy of your healthcare information. This notice describes the privacy practices of Sturdy Memorial Hospital, Inc., and Mansfield Health Center, and the responsibilities of individuals employed at these institutions. These practices apply to any health care professional authorized to enter information into your hospital chart, all departments and units of the hospital, any volunteer working in the hospital, as well as all employees, physicians and other clinical and non-clinical staff.

Your Rights

You have the right to:

- Obtain a copy of your paper or electronic medical record
- Correct your paper or electronic medical record
- Request confidential communication
- Ask us to limit the information we share
- Obtain a list of those with whom we have shared your information
- Obtain a copy of this Privacy Notice
- Choose someone to act on your behalf
- File a complaint if you believe your privacy rights have been violated

When it comes to your health information, you have certain rights.

This section explains your rights and some of our responsibilities in assisting you.

Obtain an electronic or paper copy of your medical record

- You can ask to see or receive an electronic or paper copy of your medical record and other health information we have about you. Ask us how to do this.
- We will provide a copy or a summary of your health information, usually within 30 days of your request. We may charge a reasonable, cost-based fee.

Ask us to correct your medical record

- You can ask us to correct health information about you that you think is incorrect or incomplete. Ask us how to do this.

- We may say “no” to your request, but we will tell you why in writing, within 60 days.

Request confidential communications

- You can ask us to contact you in a specific way (for example, home or office phone) or to send mail to a different address.
- We will say “yes” to all reasonable requests that ensure privacy of your information.

Ask us to limit what information we use or share

- You can ask us not to use or share certain health information with regard to treatment, payment, or our operations. We are not required to agree to your request, and we may say “no” if it has potential to adversely affect your care.
- If you pay for a service or health care item out-of-pocket in full, you can ask us not to share that information for the purpose of payment or our operations with your health insurer. We will say “yes” unless we are legally required to share that information.

Obtain a list of those with whom we have shared information

- You can request a list (accounting) of the instances in which we have shared your health information, for up to six years prior to the date of your inquiry, to include who we shared it with, and why.
- We will include all the disclosures excluding those related to treatment, payment, and health care operations, and certain other disclosures (such as any you asked us to make). We will provide one accounting per year free of charge, but will charge a reasonable, cost-based fee if another is requested within 12 months.

Obtain a copy of this Privacy Notice

- You can ask for a paper copy of this notice at any time, even if you have agreed to receive the notice electronically. We will provide you with a paper copy promptly.

Choose someone to act on your behalf

- If you have given someone medical power of attorney or if someone is your legal guardian, that person can exercise your rights and make choices about your health information.

- Prior to taking any action, we will confirm that the identified individual has the legal authority to act on your behalf.

File a complaint if you feel your rights have been violated

- If you feel your rights have been compromised in any manner, please contact the Privacy Officer at 508-236-8303.
- You can file a complaint with the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services Office for Civil Rights by sending a letter to 200 Independence Avenue, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20201, by calling 1-877-696-6775, or visiting www.hhs.gov/ocr/privacy/hipaa/complaints/.
- Rest assured there will be no retaliatory action taken for filing a complaint.

Your Choices

You have some choices in the way that we use and share information as we:

- Inform family members about your condition
- Provide disaster relief
- Include you in a hospital directory
- Provide mental health care
- Market our services and share your information
- Conduct fundraising activities

For certain health information, you can inform us of your choices regarding what we can share.

If you have a clear preference for how we share your information in the situations described below, please let us know and we will follow your instructions.

In these cases, you have both the right and choice to tell us to:

- Share information with your family, close friends, or others involved in your care
- Share information in a disaster relief situation
- Include your information in a hospital directory

If you are not able to inform us of your preference, for example if you are unconscious, we may proceed with sharing your information, if we believe it is in your best interest. We may also share your information when needed to lessen a serious and imminent threat to health or safety.

In these cases we never share your information unless you provide us with written permission:

- Marketing and sale of your information
- Sharing of psychotherapy notes

In the case of fundraising:

- We may contact you for fundraising efforts, but you can request to not be contacted in the future

Our Uses and Disclosures

We may use and share your information as we:

- Treat you
- Conduct daily operations of our organization
- Bill for services rendered to you
- Assist with public health and safety issues
- Conduct research
- Comply with the law; responding to lawsuits and legal actions
- Respond to organ and tissue donation requests
- Work with a medical examiner or funeral director
- Address workers’ compensation, law enforcement, & other government requests

How do we typically use or share your health information?

We typically use or share your health information in the following ways.

To treat you

We can use your health information and share it with other professionals who are treating you.

Example: A physician treating you for an injury asks another physician about your overall health condition.

To run our organization

We can use and share your health information to effectively run our hospital, facilitate your care, and will contact you when necessary.

Example: We use health information about you to manage your treatment and services.

Bill for your services

We can use and share your health information to bill and receive payment from health plans or other entities.

Example: We give information about you to your health insurance plan so it will pay for your services.

Use or Disclosure with Your Authorization

We may only use or disclose your Protected Health Information when you grant us permission through your written authorization. For instance, you must execute an authorization form before we can send your Protected Health Information to your life insurance company or to an attorney for litigation in which you are involved.
